said content data. (Estrada Col 9 Lines 47-57 i.e. a user interface enabling an owner to get values entered into the database via executing commands in the URL)

In regard to dependent claim 4, Estrada discloses further comprising the step of placing a script within a web page that queries said database for presentation logic when said web page is requested. (Estrada Col 10 Line 59 to Col 11 Line 38 i.e. executing the specific commands within the /URL received from the requesting user means executing scripts included in the requested web page of the received URL).
